Harlemwood FILM FESTIVAL

Featured films:

SHOOK, directed by Melanie Williams Oram

When Jill starts to suspect that Charles, her husband, has been living on the "down low" as a bi-sexual man for the entire duration of their marriage, she must decide whether she will abandon her marriage or fight to protect this relationship that she has worked so hard to build.

A-Alike, written and directed by Randall Dottin

When corporate executive Malik picks up his brother Hassan from prison on the day of his release, it is far from a happy reunion. As the two brothers drive home, they struggle to reconcile their estrangement in order to save their family and themselves.

Butterfly, written by Afia Serena Nathaniel and directed by Tanuj Chopra

A large white sheet hanging in the middle of a room, a man and a woman divided, what are the possibilities? Butterfly is a visually rich story that explores the conflict between love and obligation.

Drive By, written and directed by Jamal Joseph

The story of a single mother whose husband, an ex-Black Panther, was murdered. She struggles to raise her 16 year-old son as the streets attempt to claim him.
